Worksheet for Chapter 12: Navigating Digital and Social Changes

Purpose: To help students apply concepts of navigating digital and social changes to build resilience through self-reflection, habit tracking, scenario analysis, and actionable planning.

Part 1: Digital Life Reflection

Think about how technology and social media impact your daily life and resilience. Answer the following questions honestly to assess your digital habits and adaptability.

- How much time do I spend online each day, and on which apps or platforms?
- How does being online affect my mood or stress levels (e.g., do I feel FOMO, anxious, or happy)?
- What's one way I've adapted to a tech or social media change recently (like a new app or update)? Was it easy or hard?

Reflection Goal: Based on your answers, write one area of your digital life you want to focus on to build resilience (e.g., adapting better, reducing stress, handling negativity).

Part 2: Digital Balance Tracker Challenge

Let's work on a healthy digital balance! Pick three digital balance habits from the list below (or create your own) to manage online stress. Track them for the next 5 days by checking off when you complete them. At the end, reflect on how they impacted your mood or focus.

- Options: Set a daily screen time limit (e.g., 1-2 hours on social media), create a "no-tech" zone (like bedtime), unfollow accounts that stress you out, schedule an offline activity, turn off notifications for a few hours.

Reflection After 5 Days: How did sticking to (or missing) these habits affect your resilience, stress levels, or connection to real life?

Part 3: Cyberbullying & Online Negativity Resilience Plan

Negative online interactions can challenge your resilience. Use this section to prepare for or reflect on handling cyberbullying or toxic comments.

Step 1: Online Negativity Check-In Circle any negative online experiences you've faced or seen recently (refer to Chapter 12 for examples):

- Mean comments or trolling on posts
- Rumors or drama in group chats
- Harassment or bullying messages
- Feeling bad after comparing yourself to others' posts

Step 2: My Experience or Observation If you circled any experiences, write down one specific example (e.g., "Someone commented something mean on my photo" or "I saw drama in a chat"). If you didn't circle any, write "I haven't faced this recently" and move to Step 3.

Step 3: Resilience Action Plan Pick two strategies from Chapter 12 (like blocking, not engaging, seeking support, or focusing on your worth) to use if you face online negativity—or to prevent its impact. Write how and when you'll use them.

- Strategy 1: _____ How/When I'll Use It:

- Strategy 2: _____ How/When I'll Use It:

Part 4: Scenario Analysis – Building Digital Resilience in Action

Read the scenario below and use concepts from Chapter 12 to create a resilience plan.

Scenario: Social Media Stress and Drama You've been spending hours daily on TikTok and Instagram, and it's starting to stress you out. You feel like everyone's life looks better than yours, and you're always checking for likes on your posts. Then, someone from school posts a mean comment on your latest video, and a few others laugh in the comments. You're upset and tempted to delete everything, but you also don't want to lose your online friends.

- Question 1: How could focusing on a healthy digital balance help you manage this online stress? Write a specific plan for one balance habit you'd start.
- Question 2: What resilience strategies from Chapter 12 could you use to handle the mean comment and negativity? List two and explain how you'd apply them.
- Question 3: How would adapting to digital changes and setting boundaries help your emotional strength in this situation?

Part 5: Personal Digital Resilience Pledge

Let's commit to building resilience in your digital life! Create a short pledge to focus on one digital or social change strategy from Chapter 12 over the next week. Be specific about what you'll do and why it matters to you.

- My Digital Focus (e.g., balance, adapting to tech, handling negativity): _____
- What I'll Do (Specific Action):
- Why It Matters to My Resilience:
- How I'll Track My Progress (e.g., journal, check-in with a friend):
