Worksheet for Chapter 4: Problem-Solving in a Changing Environment

This worksheet is designed for high school students to reinforce the concepts from Chapter 4 of Adaptability & Resilience Skills in a Changing World. It includes activities to help you practice step-by-step problem-solving, think outside the box, and learn to pivot when plans don't work out. Complete each section thoughtfully—there are no wrong answers when it comes to figuring out how to tackle challenges!

Part 1: Step-by-Step Problem-Solving (Break It Down)

- Define Your Challenge: Think of a current problem you're facing (school, personal, or social). Be specific about what's really going on. Write it in 1-2 sentences.
 - My Problem: _____ Reflection: Does writing it out make the problem feel clearer or less overwhelming?
- Brainstorm Solutions: List 3-5 possible ways to solve this problem. Don't judge your ideas yet—just write down everything that comes to mind, even if it seems silly.
 - Idea 1: _____
 - Idea 2: _____
 - Idea 3: _____
 - Idea 4 (optional): _____
 - Idea 5 (optional): _____ Reflection: Did coming up with multiple ideas help you see more options?
- Evaluate and Choose: Look at your list above. Pick one solution that seems most realistic based on your time, resources, and situation. Write why you chose it.
 - Chosen Solution: _____
 - Why I Chose It: _____ Reflection: Do you feel more confident with a specific plan in mind?
- Action Plan: Break your chosen solution into small, doable steps. Write down the first step and when you'll do it (e.g., today, tomorrow).
 - First Step: _____
 - When I'll Do It: _____ Reflection: Does breaking it into steps make the solution feel more manageable?
- Reflect After Action: After trying your first step (or if you haven't yet, imagine the outcome), think about what might work or not. What will you do next if it doesn't go as planned?

- What Worked (or Might Work): _____
- What Didn't (or Might Not): _____
- Next Step If Needed: _____ Reflection: How does reflecting help you prepare for challenges?

Part 2: Thinking Outside the Box (Get Creative)

- Change Your Perspective: Pick the same problem from Part 1 or a different one. Imagine you're someone else (a teacher, a celebrity, a fictional character). How would they solve it?
 - Problem: _____
 - Who I'm Pretending to Be: _____
 - Their Solution Idea: _____ Reflection: Did seeing it through someone else's eyes spark a new idea?
- Ask "What If" Questions: For your problem, ask 2-3 wild "What if" questions (e.g., "What if I had unlimited money?" or "What if I could time travel?"). Write down any new ideas these questions inspire.
 - What If 1: _____
 - What If 2: _____
 - What If 3 (optional): _____
 - New Idea(s) Inspired: _____ Reflection: Did asking "What if" help you think of unexpected solutions?
- Combine Random Ideas: Pick two unrelated things (e.g., "music" and "sports") and brainstorm how combining them could help solve your problem.
 - Problem: _____
 - Two Things to Combine: _____
 - How They Could Help Solve It: _____ Reflection: Was this a fun way to get creative, even if the idea isn't perfect?

Part 3: Learning to Pivot (Adjust Like a Pro)

- Spot the Signs to Pivot: Think of a time recently when a plan didn't work (or use your current problem). What signs told you (or are telling you) that the plan isn't working?
 - Situation/Problem: _____
 - Signs It's Not Working: _____ Reflection: Are these signs easy to notice, or do you sometimes ignore them?
- Reassess and Explore New Options: For the situation above, restate your main goal. Then list 2-3 new strategies to try, based on what's happening now.
 - Main Goal: _____
 - New Strategy 1: _____
 - New Strategy 2: _____
 - New Strategy 3 (optional): _____ Reflection: Does exploring new options make you feel more in control?
- Test and Stay Positive: Pick one new strategy to test in a small way. Write how you'll try it and one positive statement to keep your mindset strong (e.g., "Changing plans means I'm learning!").
 - Strategy to Test: _____
 - How I'll Test It (Small Step): _____
 - Positive Statement: _____ Reflection: How does a positive mindset

help when you need to pivot?

Part 4: Creative and Fun Application (Make It Personal)

- Meme Your Problem: Create or describe a meme that captures your problem or a funny way to solve it. It can be relatable or inspiring.
 - Meme Idea or Caption: _____
 - Visual Description (if not drawing): _____ Reflection: Did making light of the problem help you feel less stressed about it?
- Pivot Power Song: Pick one song that hypes you up to change direction and keep going when a plan fails. Why does it motivate you?
 - Song Title/Artist: _____
 - Why It Motivates Me: _____ Reflection: How can music help you stay positive when pivoting?

Bonus: Personal Problem-Solving Goal

- 7-Day Challenge: Pick one problem you're facing right now. Use the 5-step problem-solving process from Part 1 to tackle it over the next week. Track your progress below.
 - Problem Chosen: _____
 - Step 1 (Define): _____
 - Step 2 (Brainstorm): List at least 3 ideas. _____
 - Step 3 (Choose): My plan. _____
 - Step 4 (Action): What I did each day.
 - Day 1: _____
 - Day 3: _____
 - Day 5: _____
 - Day 7: _____
 - Step 5 (Reflect): What worked or didn't? How did I pivot if needed? Final Reflection: Did this process help you feel more in control of the problem? Why or why not?

Student Reflection (After Completion): On a scale of 1-5, how confident do you feel about solving problems in a changing environment after completing this worksheet? (1 = Not confident, 5 = Very confident) Circle: 1 2 3 4 5
Why? _____
