Worksheet: Becoming a Teen Crisis Hero – Chapter 1 Review & Activities

Hey, high school heroes! This worksheet is designed to help you review the key concepts from Chapter 1 of "Crisis Management & First Aid Basics for Teens!" and apply what you've learned through fun, interactive tasks.

Complete the sections below to reflect on real-life scenarios and build your crisis-ready skills. Let's level up your hero game!

Part 1: Match the Crisis Type

Match each scenario to the correct type of crisis by drawing a line from the scenario to the category. (Refer to Section 1 of Chapter 1.)

- An earthquake shakes your school during class. A. Natural Disaster
- Your friend faints during a hot summer practice. B. Medical Emergency
- A classmate is upset and crying after a family fight. C. Personal Crisis

Part 2: Reflection – Staying Calm in Action

Think about a time when you felt stressed or panicked (it doesn't have to be a full crisis—maybe a test, a fight, or a tight deadline). Answer the following questions in 3-5 sentences each.

- What happened, and how did you react at first?
- Looking back, how could you use one of the "staying calm" techniques from Chapter 1 (like the 4-4-4 breathing method or focusing on one task) to handle it better?

Part 3: Scenario Role-Play – Teen Responsibilities

Read the scenario below and answer the questions to practice deciding when to act and when to seek help (refer to Section 3 of Chapter 1).

Scenario: You're at a park with friends when one of them falls off a swing and lands hard on their arm. They're crying and can't move their arm—it might be broken. There are no adults nearby right away, but you have a phone.

- What are two things you can do as a teen to help immediately? a) _____ b)

- When and why would you seek help from an adult or professional in this situation?

Part 4: Creative Challenge – Crisis Action Plan

Work solo or with a friend to create a mini "Crisis Action Plan" for a fake scenario: A power outage happens during a sleepover at your house with five friends. Use the format below to outline your plan (refer to the engaging activity in Section 3).

- Three things you'd do as a teen to help right away: a) _____ b) _____ c) _____
- When and how you'd call an adult or professional (if needed):
- One way to prevent or prepare for this crisis in the future:

Bonus Fun: Turn your plan into a short skit, comic strip, or social media post idea. Describe how you'd present it!

Part 5: Self-Assessment – Are You Crisis-Ready?

Rate yourself on a scale of 1-5 (1 = Not Ready, 5 = Super Ready) for each skill below based on what you've learned from Chapter 1. Then, write one goal to improve.

- Understanding what a crisis is: ____ / 5
- Staying calm under pressure: ____ / 5
- Knowing my role and limits as a teen in a crisis: ____ / 5

My Goal to Level Up My Crisis Skills:
