Worksheet for Chapter 6: Crisis Communication Skills

Hey, teen crisis responders! This worksheet is designed to help you practice and reflect on the communication skills you've learned in Chapter 6. Complete each section with thought and creativity—these activities will boost your confidence for real-life emergencies. Let's get started!

Part 1: Calling for Help – Practice Makes Perfect

Objective: Master the steps for contacting emergency services with clarity and speed.

- Emergency Number Recall Write down the emergency number for your country or region. If you're unsure, ask a teacher or parent, or look it up quickly. Bonus: Do you know a second number for another country (like 112 for many places)? Write it if you do!
 - My Country's Emergency Number: _____
 - Bonus Number (if known): _____
- Script an Emergency Call Imagine you're at a skate park, and a friend falls hard, unable to get up. Write a short script (3-5 sentences) of what you'd say when calling emergency services. Remember the order: location first, what happened, victim's condition, and your details. Example: "Hi, I'm at Riverside Skate Park near the main ramp. My friend fell off their board and can't move their leg. They're awake but in a lot of pain. My name is Alex, my number is 555-123-4567." Your Script:

Part 2: Communicating with Victims – Be a Calming Force

Objective: Practice empathy and respect when supporting someone in distress.

- Reassurance Role-Play Prep Think of a scenario where a classmate gets hurt during a school event (like a sprain at a dance). Write down two calming phrases you'd say to them and one question to ask for consent before helping.
 - Calming Phrase 1: _____
 - Calming Phrase 2: _____
 - Consent Question: _____
- Reflection on Tone Why is staying calm and using a steady voice important when talking to an injured person? Write 2-3 sentences about how your tone can affect their feelings.

Part 3: Working as a Team – Delegate Like a Leader

Objective: Develop skills to coordinate with others effectively during a crisis.

- Squad Delegation Challenge Imagine you're at a beach party, and someone starts choking on food. There are four friends with you. Assign a specific task to each friend based on their strengths or personality (e.g., who's calm, who's fast). List their names (or make up names) and their tasks. Example: Sarah – Call 911, she's good with phones.

- Friend 1: _____ Task: _____
- Friend 2: _____ Task: _____
- Friend 3: _____ Task: _____
- Friend 4: _____ Task: _____

- Team Communication Check Why is it important to use specific names and clear instructions when delegating tasks in a crisis? Write 2-3 sentences.

Part 4: Personal Reflection & Fun Challenge

Objective: Connect the material to your own life and boost engagement.

- Skill Confidence Check After completing this chapter, which crisis communication skill do you feel most confident about (calling for help, calming a victim, or leading a team)? Which one do you want to practice more, and why? Write 3-5 sentences.
- Crisis Communicator Badge Create your own "Crisis Communicator" nickname or badge name based on your strengths. Examples: "Steady Voice Sam" or "Team Titan Tara." Write it below and add one sentence explaining why it fits you. Bonus: Draw a small sketch of your badge on the back of this sheet if you have time!
 - My Badge/Nickname: _____
 - Why It Fits Me: _____
