Worksheet for Chapter 6: Religion and Belief Systems Worldwide

Objective: To engage students in exploring the diversity of world religions, secular and indigenous beliefs, the importance of tolerance, and the power of interfaith dialogue through interactive tasks, personal reflection, and creative problem-solving.

Part 1: Mapping Major World Religions

Instructions: Let's get a global perspective! Fill in the chart below with key details about major world religions from the chapter. Use one or two sentences for each section. Add a quick sketch or symbol (like a cross for Christianity or a lotus for Buddhism) in the last column to represent the religion.

Religion	Core Belief (What's it about?)	Key Practice (How do followers show faith?)	Interesting Fact (From chapter or your thoughts)	Symbol/Sketch
Christianity

Quick Question: Which religion's practice or belief resonated with you the most, and why? (2-3 sentences)

Part 2: Exploring Beyond Organized Religion

Instructions: Not all beliefs fit into major religions. Choose one from the list below (Atheism, Agnosticism, or Indigenous Beliefs) as discussed in the chapter. Write a short paragraph (4-5 sentences) explaining what it is, an example (like India's Adivasi tribes for Indigenous Beliefs), and how it might shape someone's worldview. Then, answer the follow-up question.

Chosen Belief: _____ Paragraph:

Follow-Up Question: How does understanding this non-religious or indigenous perspective help you see the diversity of thought in your own school or community? (2-3 sentences)

Part 3: Debunking Myths for Religious Tolerance

Instructions: Misconceptions about religions can create barriers. Pick one stereotype or myth about a religion or belief system mentioned in the chapter (e.g., "All Muslims are linked to violence" or "Hindus worship too many gods"). Write a short "fact-check" response (3-4 sentences) to correct the myth using information from the chapter. Then, suggest one way teens can promote tolerance in everyday life.

Myth/Stereotype: _____ Fact-Check Response:

Teen Tolerance Tip: (e.g., speaking up against jokes or sharing cultural events)

Part 4: Role-Play Scenario for Interfaith Dialogue

Instructions: Imagine you're at a school event called "Faith & Friendship Day." You meet three students: one is Hindu, one is atheist, and one follows an indigenous belief tied to nature. You want to start a meaningful conversation with each. Write one respectful, curious question for each person based on the chapter's guidance on interfaith dialogue. Then, reflect on how these conversations could build understanding.

Question for Hindu Student: (e.g., about a festival like Diwali)

Question for Atheist Student: (e.g., about finding meaning without religion)

Question for Indigenous Belief Student: (e.g., about nature's role in spirituality)

Reflection: How do you think asking these questions and listening to their answers could help create a stronger, more inclusive school environment? (3-4 sentences)

Part 5: Creative Project – "Unity Banner Design"

Instructions: Design a small banner (draw or describe it in detail) that represents unity across different beliefs from the chapter. Include at least three elements or symbols (e.g., a dove for peace in Christianity, a crescent for Islam, a tree for indigenous beliefs) and one tied to an Indian context (like a Diwali lamp). Use the space below for your sketch or description. Then, write a short tagline for your banner that promotes tolerance or dialogue.

Banner Sketch or Description:

Tagline: (e.g., "Believe in Unity, Respect Every Path")

Part 6: Personal Action Plan – Be a Change Agent

Instructions: Think about how you, as a teen, can make a difference in promoting understanding of diverse beliefs. Create a mini action plan with two specific steps inspired by the chapter (e.g., starting a school interfaith discussion group or sharing a positive post about a religious festival). Be realistic and creative!

Step 1: (What will you do, and when?)

Step 2: (How will you involve others or spread the message?)

Motivation Check: Why do you think these actions matter for your community or the world? (2-3 sentences)

Part 7: Quick Debate Prep – Hot Topic

Instructions: The chapter discusses how religious differences can sometimes cause tension. Prepare for a short class debate by picking a side on this statement: “Schools should teach about all religions to promote tolerance.” Write 2-3 bullet points supporting your view (either “for” or “against”), using ideas from the chapter like tolerance or interfaith dialogue.
