Get Moving Worksheet for Chapter 3

Hey High School Squad! Ready to turn up the energy and make exercise your new favorite thing? This worksheet is all about diving into Chapter 3—uncovering why movement rocks, finding activities you vibe with, building a doable routine, and staying safe while you sweat. It’s packed with fun, hands-on tasks to help you apply what you’ve learned to your own life. Grab a pen, some comfy sneakers (or just your imagination), and let’s get moving! Work on this solo or with a buddy for extra motivation.

Part 1: Movement Motivation – Why Exercise Matters to YOU

Goal: Discover how exercise can power up your body and mind, and connect it to your daily life. Instructions: Based on Section 1, list one way exercise can benefit each area below for a teen like you. Then, write a personal example of how you’ve felt this benefit (or hope to) in your own life. Be real—no one’s judging!

Reflection Question: Which benefit are you most excited to gain from exercise, and why? (Example: “I want better sleep because I’m always tired in class.”)

Part 2: Find Your Fitness Vibe – What’s Your Style?

Goal: Explore different types of physical activity to find what clicks for you. Instructions: Using Section 2 as a guide, check out the four activity types below. For each, write one example you’ve tried or want to try that fits your personality or interests. Then, rate how hyped you are to do it (1 = “No way,” 5 = “Let’s go right now!”).

Activity Type	Your Example	Hype Rating (1-5)
Cardio (heart-pumping)
Strength (muscle-building)
Flexibility/Balance (stretching, stability)
Team/Group (sports, social)

Reflection Question: Which activity type are you most drawn to, and why? How can you try it this week?
(Example: “I love team stuff—gonna ask friends for a pickup basketball game.”)

Bonus Challenge: Pick one activity from above with a hype rating of 3 or higher. Try it for at least 10 minutes this week and jot down how it felt. Did it match your vibe?

Part 3: Build Your Teen-Friendly Workout Plan

Goal: Create a realistic 5-day exercise routine that fits your busy high school schedule. Instructions: Using tips from Section 3, plan 20-30 minutes of movement for 5 days. Look at your week—when can you sneak it in (before school, after homework, weekends)? Mix cardio, strength, and flexibility if you can, and pick stuff you enjoy. Write the day, time, activity, and how long you’ll do it.

Part 4: Safety First – Protect Your Gains!

Goal: Learn how to stay safe while exercising to avoid injuries or burnout. Instructions: Based on Section 4, answer the safety questions below with tips or examples that work for you. Think about activities you do or plan to try.

Listening to Your Body (rest, pain)
Hydration & Fuel

Reflection Question: Have you ever skipped a safety step (like not warming up) and regretted it? Or, what's one safety habit you'll start now to protect yourself?

Bonus Challenge: Next time you're active, do a 5-minute warm-up (like jumping jacks) and cool-down (like stretching). Write down if you felt different compared to skipping them.

Part 5: Personal Movement Challenge – Level Up!

Goal: Set a small, fun exercise goal for the next week based on Chapter 3. Instructions: Pick ONE achievable change to try. It could be hitting 60 minutes of activity on 3 days, trying a new sport, or always warming up. Write your goal, your plan to crush it, and who (if anyone) will cheer you on.

- My Movement Goal: _____
- How I'll Crush It (Specific Plan): _____

- My Hype Squad (Friend/Family/None): _____

Reflection Question: Why did you choose this goal? How do you think you'll feel after nailing it?

Bonus Fun Activity: Sweat Squad Showdown!

Goal: Make exercise social and epic with a friendly challenge. Instructions: Team up with a friend, sibling, or classmate for a "Mini Fitness Face-Off." Each of you picks a 15-minute activity (like a quick jog, dance-off, or plank challenge). Do it together or separately, then compare who had more fun or pushed harder. Describe your showdown below:

- My Activity & Partner: _____
- What We Did: _____
- Who Won & Why? (Funniest, Most Creative, etc.): _____
- Pic or Proof (Optional): Snap a sweaty selfie or sketch your epic moment!
