Take your time to think about each question or activity. You can write your answers below or discuss them with a classmate, teacher, or family member. This worksheet is designed to be fun and engaging, helping you build confidence in making awesome first impressions. Let's get started!

Part 1: Key Concepts Match-Up (Matching Activity)

Test your understanding! Match each key concept from Chapter 2 on the left with the correct description on the right by drawing a line between them or writing the corresponding letter next to the number.

- Body Language
- Dressing for Success
- 30-Second Rule
- Handshake
- a) A quick self-introduction or elevator pitch to make a memorable impression in a short time. b) Nonverbal communication through posture, eye contact, and gestures that shows confidence and engagement. c) A firm, professional greeting that demonstrates reliability and respect during a first meeting. d) Choosing appropriate, neat attire to match the setting and show respect for the situation.

Part 2: Personal Reflection (Short Answers)

Answer the following questions in 2-3 sentences each. Be honest and thoughtful!

- What's one body language tip (posture, eye contact, or handshake) you think you need to work on, and why? How will you practice it this week?
- Why do you think dressing appropriately matters for a first impression? Have you ever noticed someone's outfit affecting how you saw them?

Part 3: Hands-On Activity (Practical Task)

First Impression Makeover Challenge: Over the next 3 days, focus on one area from this chapter each day—body language (Day 1), dressing for success (Day 2), and your 30-second pitch (Day 3). Try these in real-life situations (like at school, with family, or at a store). After each day, answer the questions below.

- Day 1 – Body Language (Posture, Eye Contact, or Handshake): What did you focus on, and how did people react? Did you feel more confident?
- Day 2 – Dressing for Success: Wear a neat outfit for a specific setting (like a club meeting or family event). How did it make you feel? Did anyone comment on your look?

- Day 3 – 30-Second Pitch: Practice your elevator pitch with at least one person (friend, teacher, or family). What did you say, and how did they respond? What can you improve?

Part 4: Creative Task (Self-Introduction Draft)

Write your own 30-second elevator pitch using the formula from the chapter: (1) Your name and a greeting, (2) A brief fact about yourself (skill, interest, or goal), and (3) A question or next step. Keep it under 30 seconds—read it aloud to time yourself! My Elevator Pitch:

Timing Check: How long did it take to say? (Aim for 15-30 seconds) _____ seconds Feedback (Optional): Share it with a friend or family member. What did they think?

Part 5: Quick Challenge (Optional Bonus)

Mini Role-Play: Pair up with a friend, sibling, or family member. Pretend you're meeting for the first time at a job interview or college fair. Focus on body language (stand tall, eye contact, handshake) and deliver your 30-second pitch. Take turns being the "introducer" and the "listener." After the role-play, write down one thing you did well and one thing to improve.

- What I Did Well: _____
- What I Want to Improve: _____
