Chapter 3: Understanding Negotiation Basics - Worksheet for High Schoolers

Purpose: This worksheet is designed to help you apply the concepts from Chapter 3 through reflective questions, practical exercises, and real-life scenarios. Use it to reinforce your learning about types of negotiation, identifying goals and interests, understanding others' perspectives, crafting win-win solutions, and avoiding common mistakes. Grab a pen, get thinking, and let's make negotiation skills stick!

Part 1: Self-Reflection - Know Yourself (Personal Analysis)

Think about your own experiences and write short responses to connect the chapter to your life.

- Your Negotiation Style: Do you think you naturally lean toward competitive or collaborative negotiation? Why? (Think of a recent example, like splitting chores or deciding on plans with friends.)
- Your Goals and Interests: Recall a time you asked for something (like a later curfew or a group project role). What was your goal? Dig deeper—what was the interest (the “why”) behind it? Goal: _____ Interest: _____
- Mistakes You've Made: Have you ever made a negotiation mistake (like getting too emotional or not preparing)? Describe what happened and one thing you'd do differently now.

Part 2: Practice Scenario - Apply Your Skills (Case Study)

Read the scenario below, then answer the questions to practice negotiation strategies. Scenario: You and your sibling both want to use the family laptop this evening. You need it for a school project due tomorrow, and they want it to play an online game with friends. Your parents say you have to work it out between yourselves.

- Identify Goals and Interests: What is your goal in this situation? What might be your deeper interest (why do you need the laptop)? Guess your sibling's goal and interest too. Your Goal: _____ Your Interest: _____
Sibling's Goal: _____
Sibling's Interest: _____
- Understand Their Perspective: What is one question you could ask your sibling to understand their side better? Question: _____
- Win-Win Solution: Suggest a win-win solution that could satisfy both of you. (Example: Split time on the laptop.) Be creative! Solution: _____
- Avoid Mistakes: Imagine your sibling says no to sharing and gets upset. How would you avoid the mistake of “getting too emotional” in this moment?

Part 3: Action Challenge - Try It Out (Real-Life Application)

Put your skills to the test with a small, real negotiation in your life over the next week. Pick something low-stakes, like deciding on a family meal, splitting tasks with a friend, or asking a teacher for help. Follow these steps and write your results.

- What You'll Negotiate: Describe the situation and what you hope to achieve. Situation: _____ Goal: _____
- Preparation: Before the negotiation, list your main interest (why you want this) and one possible backup plan if you get a "no." Interest: _____ Backup Plan: _____
- After the Negotiation: How did it go? Was it competitive or collaborative? Did you find a win-win? Note one thing you did well and one thing to improve. Outcome: _____ Style (Competitive/Collaborative): _____ Win-Win (Yes/No and Why): _____ Did Well: _____ To Improve: _____

Part 4: Fun Bonus - Negotiation Detective (Observation Exercise)

Over the next few days, observe a negotiation around you (like parents deciding something, friends picking a game, or even on a TV show). Answer these quick questions to analyze it like a pro!

- What was being negotiated?
- Did it seem more competitive or collaborative? Why?
- Did both sides seem happy with the outcome (win-win)? Why or why not?
- Did you notice any mistakes (like not listening or getting emotional)? Describe.
