Worksheet: Chapter 1 - The Power of Goal Setting

Instructions: Hey, goal-setters! This worksheet is your chance to dive deeper into the ideas from Chapter 1. Complete each section thoughtfully—there are no wrong answers! Use a pen or pencil, and feel free to get creative. Share your ideas with a friend, family member, or teacher if you'd like feedback. Let's unlock your goal-setting superpowers!

Part 1: Understanding Goals (Section 1: What Is a Goal? From Dreams to Reality)

- Dream vs. Goal Reflection

- Write down one big dream you have (e.g., becoming a musician, traveling the world). My Dream:
- Now, turn that dream into a specific goal using this format: "I will [action] every [timeframe] for [duration] to achieve [result]." My Goal:

- Mini-Mission Sketch Imagine your dream is your "ultimate mission" as a superhero. Draw or describe a quick comic strip or scene showing one small goal (a mini-mission) you can complete to get closer to your ultimate mission. (Use the space below or attach a separate sheet if you're drawing.)

Description (if not drawing):

(Space for drawing if needed)

Part 2: Why Goals Matter to You (Section 2: Why Goal Setting Matters in Your Teen Years)

- Personal Connection Think about your life right now. Which of these benefits of goal setting do you think would help you the most? (Check one and explain why.)
 - Builds Confidence
 - Improves Focus
 - Prepares You for Adulthood
 - Reduces Stress Why I chose this:
- Weekly Goal Challenge Set a tiny goal for this week related to one area of your life (school, hobbies, family, etc.). Keep it simple! My Weekly Goal:

How I'll track it (e.g., checklist, app, journal):

Part 3: The Science of Success (Section 3: The Science Behind Goal Achievement)

- SMART Goal Practice Turn a general idea into a SMART goal (Specific, Measurable, Achievable, Relevant, Time-bound). For example, change "I want to get fit" to "I will jog for 20 minutes, 3 times a week, for 1 month to improve my stamina."

- General Idea: "I want to do better in school."
- My SMART Goal:
- Brain Boost Mini-Win Pick a small goal for today or tomorrow (e.g., organizing your backpack, texting a friend). Write it down, do it, and note how you feel after completing it. My Small Goal:

How I Felt After Completing It:

Part 4: Inspiration from Others (Section 4: Real Stories: How Teen Goal-Setters Changed Their Lives)

- Story Creation Write a short paragraph about a teen (real or made-up) who achieves something amazing through goal setting. What small goals did they set? What did they achieve? My Story:
- Personal Takeaway After reading about Jake and Mia, what's one lesson about goal setting that inspires you? How can you apply it to your own life? Lesson:

How I'll Apply It:
